What these technologies are

Cookies are small files or identifiers stored or accessed by a browser. Similar technologies include pixels, tags, local storage, and software development tools. They can support site operation, security, preferences, analytics, and advertising.

Categories that may be used

Category	Purpose	Typical control
Necessary	Storefront operation, checkout, security, fraud prevention, network delivery, and session management.	Often cannot be disabled through a consent tool because the service would not function properly.
Preferences	Remember language, currency, display, or similar choices where supported.	May be managed through site or browser settings.
Analytics	Measure visits, page use, performance, and product interest so the site can be maintained and improved.	May be managed through available consent controls, provider opt-outs, or browser settings.
Marketing	Measure campaigns or personalize advertising if these tools are enabled in the future.	Should not be treated as active until verified; use the site consent tool where required.

Providers

Fourthwall may use cookies and similar technologies to host and operate the storefront, process transactions, support security, and provide analytics. Cloudflare may use necessary network and security technologies. Brevo may use link or message measurement technologies in newsletters where enabled. Other analytics or advertising tools must be added to this notice before or when they are activated.

Your choices

Visitors may use any consent controls presented by the site, adjust browser settings, clear stored data, or use provider opt-out tools where available. Blocking necessary technologies may prevent checkout or other features from working. Withdrawing consent does not make earlier lawful processing unlawful.
